

We are a group of juried makers who fulfill our idea of finely made local, sustainable, and handmade products. We curate the makers that represent the gallery so that they fulfill the quality and integrity we are looking for and do not conflict with any other makers that represent our vision of H-art and Soul Makers Market. This is a new concept in St.Louis and we are limiting it to 24, wonderful makers.

We are here to fill the needs of both makers and consumers– a perfect space for the socially and economically conscious to join hands to form a cooperative business with a professional image and reputation.

We will make certain that each piece is of the quality that we are looking for and that the price point fills the needs of our customers and does not conflict with other makers in the gallery.

We are searching for handmade- Art, glass, metal, wood, Jewelry, gift items, soaps, lotions, apparel, greeting cards, decorated furniture, home goods, & garden products(what you would see on Etsy or Pinterest)

Handmade-

Everything is handcrafted by our vendors or someone around the world that they represent. They take pride in every stroke of a paintbrush, each stitch on clothing or every cut and paste that they make. Their products are their stories and what is better than our stories?

Sustainable-

Recycle and Reuse are mantras of the gallery. Many of the items were once something else and we take them and make them our own. This is our way of protecting our environment.

Local-

All of our makers live within 100 miles of our Chesterfield Gallery. They will be here for you and they will tell us their stories and the stories of their products. When you purchase any of our items, the money goes to local people and goes back into our community. It is our socially conscious effort to give back.

This market is to be filled with independent and successful makers who have a passion and dedication to their pieces and have a goal to surprise our customers with unique items that cannot be found elsewhere.
